Health and Wellbeing Round Up Report

1. Purpose

- 1.1 To provide the Board with a round-up of key progress in relation to Health and Wellbeing issues and projects not covered elsewhere on the agenda.

2. Round-Up

2.1 A matter of life and death: Explaining the Wider Determinants of Health in the UK

The Health Foundation is working with the FrameWorks Institute to produce a report which outlines an evidence-based framing strategy for shifting understanding and building greater support for action to address the wider determinants of health.

2.2 Public satisfaction with the NHS and social care in 2021

The King's Fund and Nuffield Trust have published the results of the latest survey into public satisfaction with the NHS and social care in 2021.

2.3 Public health in local government: celebrating 10 years of transformation

The LGA has published the tenth LGA public health annual report, which reflects on ten years of public health in government and looks forward to the opportunities and challenges of the coming year.

2.4 Building public understanding of health and health inequalities

The Health Foundation has published a report which draws on polling and recent research to explore what the public think about health and health inequalities. The report examines how public health professionals and others working in related fields can use communication techniques to improve public understanding of health inequalities and the factors that influence health.

2.5 Equality and endurance: how can we tackle health inequalities this time?

The King's Fund has published a report which explores what can be learnt from past attempts to tackle health inequalities and makes the case for developing a long-term approach.

2.6 Sexual health services: how local government can effectively deliver to communities

The LGiU has published a briefing which outlines the current challenges facing sexual health services across the UK and internationally as local authorities work to deliver comprehensive care to communities. The briefing contains examples of the ways that local authorities are working to diversify their sexual health offerings and includes recommendations for future investment to strengthen services at a local level.

2.7 Supporting modern slavery victims: guidance and good practice for council homelessness services

The LGA has published guidance on modern slavery which has been developed specifically for council officers leading and working in homelessness and housing services. The document provides focused guidance to assist heads of service and frontline officers in understanding their role and improving their provision for victims of modern slavery.

2.8 The business of health equity: the Marmot review for industry

The Institute of Health Equity has published a report that examines the evidence of how businesses affect our health, and what they can do to improve health equity. Businesses can affect health, for good or ill, through the pay, hours and conditions of work they provide for employees; through the products, services and investments that they offer customers and clients; and, more widely, by their influence on communities and wider society.

2.9 The impact of community anchor organisations on the wider determinants of health.

As part of the VCSE Health and Wellbeing Alliance, Locality (in consortium with Power to Change) have been working with the government's Office for Health Improvement and Disparities (OHID) to research the impact of community anchor organisations on the wider determinants of health. This includes understanding how they impact those experiencing health inequalities in their communities.

2.10 Smoking and social housing: Supporting residents, addressing inequalities

A joint report published by Action on Smoking and Health (ASH) and the Housing Learning and Improvement Network (LIN), sets out the case and opportunities for addressing smoking in social housing. This report outlines the case for reducing rates of smoking in the social housing sector as part of social landlords' health and wellbeing activity. The report also aims to equip the social housing and public health sectors with the information required to collaboratively progress action on smoking and improve the support available to residents who smoke.

2.11 How can local authorities reduce obesity?

The National Institute for Health and Care Research (NIHR) have completed a review to identify evidence-based actions that local authorities, working with their local partners, can take to reduce obesity in their communities.

2.12 Fit for the future: The health value of wellbeing and leisure services

This new report from District Councils' Network (DCN), produced with health consultants HEC at University of East Anglia and Economics By Design, delivers strong evidence of the potential of these services to tackle health inequalities and level up our communities.
